

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CRIMINOLOGY

EXECUTIVE BOARD

CHAIR:

Carol Archbold

VICE CHAIR:

Janne Gaub

SECRETARY-TREASURER:

Lisa Barao

EXEC. COUNSELORS:

Samantha Clinkinbeard
Jacqueline Drew
Connie Koski

CONTACT US

MAIL:

Division of Policing
American Society of Criminology
921 Chatham Lane, Suite
108
Columbus, OH 43221

WEB

www.ascpolicing.org

EMAIL:

ascpolicing@gmail.com

FACEBOOK:

Division of Policing

TWITTER:

@ASCPolicing

INSIDE THIS ISSUE:

From the Chair	I
Award Winners	2-6
ASC Division Events	7-8
Open Calls	9

DIVISION OF POLICING NEWS

NOVEMBER 2023

From the Chair

It is hard to believe that a year has passed since I was instated Chair of the Division of Policing (DoP). I have enjoyed my time in this role. I would like to thank Jason Ingram (former Division Chair) for answering countless questions and providing invaluable advice as I navigated my first year in this position. It has been a pleasure working with Janne Gaub (Vice Chair), Lisa Barao (Secretary/Treasurer), Samantha Clinkinbeard, Connie Koski, and Jacqueline Drew (DoP Executive Counselors) this past year. I am fortunate to work with this creative and hard-working group.

In just a few weeks, people will gather in Philadelphia (PA) for the annual conference of the American Society of Criminology. DoP is sponsoring several research panels featuring topics such as advances in police screening, officer involved shootings, and dispatchers and the 911 system, to name a few. The Division will also sponsor two round tables: one focuses on the timely issue of police staffing, and the other will feature scholars who have submitted papers centered on women in policing for the upcoming special issue in Policing: A Journal of Policy and Practice. On Friday, November 17th, a DoP sponsored lightning talk will feature a discussion on police accountability. These events provide opportunities to network with others with shared interests. All ASC conference attendees are welcome to attend these events.

The annual DoP Reception and Awards Ceremony will be held on Thursday, November 16 from 3:30pm to 4:50pm in the Liberty Ballroom Salon A - Headhouse Tower (3rd Floor). Hors d'oeuvres, cookies, and soft drinks/water will be served during this gathering. You can also pick up a 2023 DoP pin at the reception. Marilyn Ee (Ph.D. student, Sam Houston State University) did a wonderful job designing the DoP pin. Awards will be presented for every category, including the new Teaching and Mentoring award, and the Innovation in Policing award. I would like to thank Connie Koski for assembling and leading the Awards committee. Special thanks to Ericka Wentz, Starr Solomon, Trisha Rhodes, and Joselyne Nkogo for serving on the Awards committee. Please join us as we celebrate the recipients of the 2023 DoP awards at the reception.

Safe travels to everyone who will be attending the ASC conference in a few weeks. I look forward to seeing you in Philly!

Sincerely,

Carol A. Archbold, Ph.D.
Chair - ASC DoP
Department of Criminal Justice
North Dakota State University

2023 Division of Policing Award Winners

Lifetime Achievement Award

Dr. Rob Worden is the director of the John F. Finn Institute for Public Safety, Inc., and associate professor of criminal justice at the University at Albany, SUNY. He holds a Ph.D. in political science from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. His research revolves around questions about the accountability and responsiveness of police organizations to the public. He is the coauthor of Mirage of Police Reform: Procedural Justice and Police

Legitimacy, and The Power to Arrest: Lessons from Research, and his scholarship has appeared in Justice Quarterly, Criminology, Criminology & Public Policy, and other academic journals. Professor Worden has served on the IACP Research Advisory Committee since 2018, and on the New York State Law Enforcement Accreditation Council from 2001 until 2021. He was a member of the National Research Council's Committee to Review Research on Police Policies and Practices, whose report, Fairness and Effectiveness in Policing: The Evidence, was published in 2004. He is the recipient of the 2018 O.W. Wilson Award for outstanding contributions to police education, research, and practice, from the Police Section of the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences.

Distinguished Scholar Award

Dr. Cynthia Lum is Distinguished University Professor of Criminology, Law and Society at George Mason University and Director of GMU's Center for Evidence-Based Crime Policy. She was named a Fellow of the American Society of Criminology in 2021. She is a leading authority on evidence-based policing, an approach that advocates that research, evaluation, and scientific processes should have "a seat at the table" in law enforcement policymaking and practice. She has studied and written extensively about patrol operations and police crime prevention activities, police technology, investigations and detective work, and evidence-based crime policy. Additionally, she has developed numerous tools and strategies to translate and institutionalize research into everyday law enforcement operations. For her efforts, she received the Virginia State Council for Higher Education Outstanding Faculty Award, the commonwealth's highest faculty honor, and was the inaugural recipient of GMU's Presidential Medal for Social Impact. Dr. Lum is an appointed member of the National Academies of Sciences Committee on Law and Justice, an appointed trustee to the Council on Criminal Justice, and a board director for the National Policing Institute. Dr. Lum has served numerous elected and appointed positions within the American Society of Criminology and is Co-Editor in Chief of Criminology & Public Policy, the society's flagship policy journal. She is the founding editor of Translational Criminology Magazine. Professor Lum is a former police officer and detective.

Early Career Award

Dr. Kyle McLean graduated from the University of South Carolina with a Ph.D. in Criminology and Criminal Justice in 2018 and was named a National Institute of Justice (NIJ) Law Enforcement Advancing Data and Sciences (LEADS) Academic in 2019. Dr. McLean has worked on three National Institute of Justice-funded projects—first as a graduate student, then as an Investigator, and now as a principal investigator. In the current project, Dr. McLean is leading a team of researchers to evaluate a police de-escalation training program using a novel measure of empathy and systematic social observations of body-worn camera footage. Dr. McLean's research interests focus on understanding police-community relations and evaluating efforts to reform the police to better reflect community demands of policing. Accordingly, Dr. McLean has conducted research in the areas of police legitimacy, police training, police culture, police use of force, and body-worn cameras.

Innovation in Policing Award

Marc S. Buslik is a retired, highly decorated, 39-year veteran of the Chicago Police Department (CPD), most recently the Commander of the 19th ("Town Hall") District on the City's north side. Buslik is the Senior Policing Consultant to the New York University Law School "Policing Project" as it supports the CPD's "Neighborhood Policing Initiative," a next-generation community engagement and problem solving effort. He is a pro bono member of the Chicago Council on Mental Health Equity, providing input to City of Chicago mental health response policies and practices. Buslik is a long-time consultant with the US DOJ and has travelled to former Soviet-bloc countries to assist them with establishing broad government and police accountability mechanisms. He has authored several articles and book chapters on policing, crime and disorder control, and the sociology of neighborhoods. He is a nationally recognized expert on the use of police body worn cameras. He has presented on his model, "Collaborative Police Legitimacy," across the US and presented "Policing in America: Legitimacy in the 21st Century" at the Cook County State's Attorney's Office Annual Diversity and Inclusion Training program.

He is the co-creator of the active bystandership tool for peer interaction and "duty to intervene," called "G[round yourself], R[e-direct], I[nterrupt], T[ouchbase]." Buslik has taught for over 25 years at the University of Illinois Chicago, Oakton College, and the Illinois Institute of Technology. He holds a B.A. in Criminal Justice, with a minor in Computer Science, from Northeastern Illinois University; he returned to school, as a police officer, to the University of Illinois Chicago (UIC) for a Master of Public Administration degree, and again, to the Ph.D. program in Criminology from UIC with dissertation work on police accountability and disciplinary systems.

Teaching & Mentorship Awards

Sherah L. Basham, Ph.D. is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Social, Cultural, and Justice Studies at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga, in Chattanooga, Tennessee. She holds a Ph.D. in Criminal Justice and has over 20 years of experience in the criminal justice field in the areas of investigations, campus security, and higher education. Her research interests include policing, campus law enforcement, emergency preparedness, and Real Time Crime Centers. Her most recent research appears in Policing: An International Journal, the Journal of Interpersonal Violence, and the Journal of Criminal Justice Education.

Dr. Cory P. Haberman is Associate Professor and Director of the Institute of Crime Science in the School of Criminal Justice at the University of Cincinnati. Dr. Haberman earned his PhD from the Department of Criminal Justice at Temple University in 2015. Since then, Dr. Haberman has used a crime science perspective to understand why crime happens when and where it does and how society can use that information for crime prevention. Dr. Haberman teaches courses and mentors students on the topics of public safety policy, crime and place, and police effectiveness. As an action researcher, Dr. Haberman's work often includes directly partnering and working with agencies and stakeholders to ensure his work has real-world grounding and application. Dr. Haberman prides himself on making his work both scientifically rigorous and practically applicable. In 2019, Dr. Haberman was selected as a U.S. National Institute of Justice LEADS Academic. Dr. Haberman's academic work has received several awards, such as the 2019 Early Career Award from the American Society of Criminology's Division of Policing and the 2021 University of Cincinnati Faculty Excellence Award.

Outstanding Book Award

Policing Unrest: On the Front Lines of the Ferguson Protests

Tammy Rinehart Kochel, Ph.D., is Associate Dean for Research and Personnel for Health and Human Sciences and Professor of Criminology and Criminal Justice at Southern Illinois University. She conducts applied research with police and communities, examining how policing strategies and behaviors influence public views, crime, and community efficacy. She has focused on disadvantaged minority populations living in high crime areas, with whom police most often interact, and their views about procedural justice, police legitimacy, and police effectiveness.

Policing Unrest presents the frontline experiences of police officers during the intense three weeks of protest, vigils, looting, violence, and large civil demonstrations in and around Ferguson, Missouri, following the fatal shooting of Michael Brown by a police officer. Looking closely at the lived experiences of police officers and community residents, Tammy Rinehart Kochel raises important questions about police-community relations and the role of police as peacekeepers in support of social justice.

Drawing on interviews with dozens of police personnel who policed the protests,

Kochel offers insight into their shared experiences and provides compelling personal accounts of how they performed their jobs during the protest. The book covers a range of topics such as police-community relationships and community policing principles; how factors such as police subculture and organizational culture stacked up against social identity during this crisis; the role of an officer's characteristics, especially an officer's race, play in an officer's self-legitimacy; and the implications for police recruitment and training. Kochel's unique access allowed her to provide a balanced perspective on police officers' cynicism and public protests against police that were rampant in the year following Ferguson against the need to restore police-community relations and police legitimacy through increased transparency, accountability, and procedural justice. Policing Unrest explains how the Ferguson protests ushered in an era of police reform and reveals what it is like being a police officer facing public unrest, particularly in the wake of widely publicized incidents of police brutality around the country.

Learn More at NYU Press

Outstanding Dissertation Award

Dr. Melanie F.P. Soderstrom earned a Ph.D. from the Department of Criminal Justice at the University of Central Florida in 2022. Prior to her doctoral studies, Dr. Soderstrom earned a J.D. from the College of William & Mary School of Law and practiced as a criminal

“The Expansion of School Resource Officers in a Florida County:
A Mixed Methods Study”

defense attorney specializing in representing youth in the juvenile courts of Virginia. She is currently an Assistant Professor and Pre-Law Advisor in the School of Criminal Justice and Criminology at Texas State University. Dr. Soderstrom uses mixed methods to examine school policing, justice system responses to youth with mental health needs, and practitioner training programs.

Outstanding Student Article

“What Makes Police Officers Resist Research and Evidence-Based Policing?
Examining the Role of Organizational and Environmental Factors”

Kiseong Kuen is a doctoral candidate in the Department of Criminology, Law and Society at George Mason University. He is also a research assistant in the Center for Evidence-Based Crime Policy (CEBCP). He received his Bachelor's degree in Police Science and Master's degree in Criminology from Dongguk University in South Korea. His research interests include evidence-based policing, police-citizen relations, crime and place, social problems at crime hot spots, and quantitative methods. His research has been published in several journals including Journal of Research in Crime and Delinquency, Criminology and Public Policy, Journal of Criminal Justice, Policing: A Journal of Policy and Practice, and Policing: An International Journal.

Student Travel Awards

Katherine Barrus is a doctoral candidate in the Department of Criminal Justice at Indiana University Bloomington.

She is presenting a paper titled:

Police Comprehension and Perception of African American English: A Matched-Guise Study

Wed, Nov 15, 11:00 AM-12:20 PM, Room 502, 5th Flr

Kiseong Kuen is a doctoral candidate in the Department of Criminology, Law and Society at George Mason University. He is presenting two papers titled:

Measuring Procedural Justice and Police Legitimacy: A Systematic Review

Fri, Nov 17, 2:00-3:20 PM, Room 406, 4th Flr

What Makes Police Officers Resist Evidence-Based Policing? Examining the Role of Organizational and Environmental Factors

Fri, Nov 17, 9:30-10:50 AM, Room 410, 4th Flr

American Society of Criminology

Division of Policing

Philadelphia, PA 2023

Reception and Award Ceremony

The Division will once again host a Reception and Awards Ceremony at the ASC Annual Meeting in Philadelphia. The ceremony will be held on:

Thursday, November 16th, 3:30 to 4:50 PM,
Liberty Ballroom Salon A—Headhouse Tower, 3rd Floor.

Also, please join us for our Division Roundtable. Panelists include authors from our Special Issue in Policing: A Journal of Policy & Practice to discuss their work centering on women in policing. This session will be held on:

Thursday, November 16th, 9:30 to 10:50 AM
Grand Ballroom Salon 3—The Notary Hotel, 1st Floor

RENEW YOUR MEMBERSHIP FOR 2024

We thank you for your support in 2023! Please renew your membership for 2024. If you weren't a 2023 member, we invite you to become a new member!

Dues are only $20 a year and dues for students are just $5 annually. You can join the Division of Policing at the same time you renew your ASC membership. Go to www.asc41.com to access the online or paper membership forms. When joining or renewing, please also consider making a separate donation for continued support of our student travel award fund.

DoP Executive Board

Carol Archbold

Janne Gaub

Lisa Barao

Samantha Clinkinbeard

Jacqueline Drew

Connie Koski

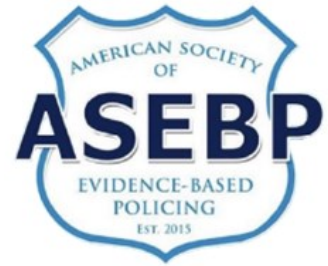

2023 Division of Policing Sponsored Panels

- Thematic Panel: Advances in Police Screening and Community Responses
When/Where: Wednesday, November 15th, 8:00-9:20 AM, Franklin Hall 4, 4th Floor
Chair/Host: Violence Intervention and Policing Research (VIPR) Lab
- Thematic Panel: Officer-Involved Shootings: A Cross-National Comparison of Events in Australia, Canada, England & Wales, and New Zealand
When/Where: Thursday, November 16th, 8:00-9:20 AM, Franklin Hall 2, 4th Floor
Chair/Host: Ross Hendy
- Roundtable: Addressing the Global Police Staffing Challenge: A Discussion of Ongoing Research, Challenges, Opportunities, and Resources
When/Where: Thursday, November 16th, 8:00-9:20 AM, Conference Suite III, 3rd Floor
Chair/Host: Jeremy Wilson
- Thematic Panel: Findings from National Surveys of Law Enforcement Agencies and Law Enforcement Officers
When/Where: Thursday, November 16th, 9:30-10:50 AM, Franklin Hall 5, 4th Floor
Chair/Host: Jeremy Barnum
- Thematic Panel: The Implications of Dispatchers and the 911 System for Policing
When/Where: Thursday, November 16th, 11:00 AM-12:20 PM, Franklin Hall 5, 4th Floor
Chair/Host: Rylan Simpson
- Thematic Panel: Police and Community Efforts to Address Violence
When/Where: Friday, November 17th, 8:00-9:20 AM, Salon A, 5th Floor
Chair/Host: Meagan Cahill, Police Executive Research Forum (PERF)
- Thematic Panel: Using Simulation to Train & Study the Police
When/Where: Friday, November 17th, 9:30-10:50 AM, Franklin Hall 6, 4th Floor
Chair/Host: Cory Haberman
- Lightning Talk: Police Accountability
When/Where: Friday, November 17th, 12:30-1:50 PM, Franklin Hall 3, 4th Floor
Chair/Host: Thomas Mrozla
- Thematic Panel: Fifty Years of Police Organizational Theory: The State of the Art, Population Ecology, and Contingency Environments
When/Where: Friday, November 17th, 3:30-4:50 PM, Room 304, 3rd Floor
Chair/Host: William King

Open Calls

CALL FOR PROPOSALS

The American Society of Evidence-Based Policing (ASEBP) is accepting proposals for their 8th Annual Evidence-Based Policing Conference to be held May 29-31, 2024 at Washington State University in Spokane, WA. The proposal submission deadline is November 12, 2023. Click here to view the flyer for more information.

CALL FOR PAPERS

Criminology & Public Policy currently has two calls for papers for special issues. These will mark the last two issues of the current editors' term. More information can be found in the flyers below.

Cutting Edge Research on Policing Practice and Policy (hard deadline: December 31, 2023)

Special Issue Flyer

Gun Violence (hard deadline: January 31, 2024).

Special Issue Flyer

[Editors: Cynthia Lum & Christopher Koper]

Policing: An International Journal currently has a call for papers for a special issue on Rural Policing in Contemporary Society. Manuscripts are due December 1, 2023. Click here to view the flyer for more information.

[Guest Editors: Gorazd Mesko & Matt Bowden]

Policing: An International Journal also has a call for papers for a special issue on Police Staffing: Global Perspectives and Local Realities. Manuscripts are due February 29, 2024. Click here to view the flyer for more information.

[Guest Editors: Ian T. Adams, Scott M. Mourtgos, Jeremy M. Wilson]

Police Practice & Research currently has a call for papers for a special issue on Emerging Technologies & Tools in Policing Practice. Abstracts are due December 1, 2023 and invited papers are due April 1, 2024. Click here to view the flyer for more information.

[Guest Editors: Kathleen E. Padilla & Ian T. Adams]

DIVISION OF POLICING

PLEASE SEND ANNOUNCEMENTS, JOB POSTINGS, OR OTHER RELATED MATERIALS TO

ASCPOLICING@GMAIL.COM